Most of our TES families fall in the average amount for both grants and awards. This would mean out-of-pocket costs for The Edison School would be $7,000 for the school year. We know a lot of different factors are considered with both grant awards so these numbers are just to help you decide if you think you can afford The Edison School. You need to be prepared to pay at least 30% of our annual tuition. This 30% would be only if you qualified for the highest amount of IEA Grant awards and Financial Aid Awards.

At The Edison School, we understand that a private school education for your child requires a major financial commitment. It takes careful planning and a significant sacrifice for some families, so we hope you find this information helpful.
